The Younger Chemistry Education Scholars (YCES) and the Chemical Education Research Committee (CERC) of the Division of Chemical Education invite undergraduates to participate in the Chemistry Education Research Undergraduate Poster Award Competition to be held during the CHED poster session during the 259th American Chemical Society meeting in Philadelphia, PA.

The top three presenters that demonstrate the highest caliber of research will be selected for this prestigious award and will be given a monetary gift of $50 (best poster) or $25 (second and third best) as well as the opportunity to write a blog post for the YCES blog (<http://www.divched.org/blogs/YCES>).

If you know of an undergraduate researcher who would be interested in participating please forward on the following information. To participate please indicate as such in the 1-question survey. Please make sure to discuss participation in this competition with your academic advisor before agreeing to participate. For multiple authors/presenters, we only need to hear from one of you. If we do not hear from you by Monday, March 16, 2020 you will not be entered in the competition. If you have any questions about this award, please feel free to contact Lisa Kendhammer (CERC@divched.org).
